Study abroad with AUF at any time of the year.

AUF is a private higher learning institution located in distinct campus facilities in the historic center of Florence. All courses are taught in the English language, with the exception of Italian language courses. Faculty members are highly qualified and come from diverse international and professional backgrounds. AUF's copyrighted educational model is based on integration and experiential learning.

AUF is the only institution in Italy whose academic divisions feature community projects where students are engaged in the local community. Projects include a school restaurant, pastry shop, spa, guest apartments, fashion retail store, botanical retail store, entrepreneurial lab, publishing house, two exhibition galleries, and a community center open to all residents and visitors. Students can choose courses from many academic disciplines and their related departments and courses.
